Beckham and Thomas Make Vote-Winning Campaign There.

BEBKHAM GAINS IN MOUNTAINS.

Everybody in Stanton Proclaims Allegiance to Thomas.

The Woodford Sun, influential Democratic newspaper owned by Dan M. and A. A. Bowmar, in its issue of last week declares for Claude M. Thomas for the Democratic nomination for Congress in an editorial signed by Mr. A. A. Bowmar. Mr. Bowmar says:

"The Sun takes pleasure in declaring for Hon. Claude M. Thomas for Congress in this district. We supported Mr. Thomas in his Congressional race several years ago and we are glad to do it again."

"Furthermore, we are not only for Mr. Thomas, but we are against Mr. Cantrill, not only by reason of our advocacy of Mr. Thomas, but outside of that."

"Yet I will say again, what has been said in these columns before, there is absolutely nothing personal in our fight on Mr. Cantrill. The personal feeling of both the Sun's editors toward Mr. Cantrill is entirely kind and there is no reason why it should be otherwise. I will go further and say that some of the attacks on Mr. Cantrill in the past have gone beyond the bounds of what I could approve."

"I am opposed to Mr. Cantrill because he stands for that in public life against which I am enlisted to fight as long as I have tongue or pen. Mr. Cantrill is the friend and representative of the whisky interests. Mr. Cantrill, in his political methods and his political affiliations, is for everything that I am against."

"I believe in throwing the saloon power bodily out of politics and keeping it out. I believe in temperance legislation. I believe in absolute purity in elections. I believe in referring everything to the people and not to the politicians. How could I possibly support Mr. Cantrill, the friend of the liquor interests, the enemy of temperance legislation, the 'framer-up' of the proposed 'snap primary' of 1913—the plainest, most undeniable trampling on the people's rights which I have ever seen. I can not and will not."

"I have no personal attack to make on Mr. Cantrill at all, for personal attacks generally require personal prejudice. I am against Mr. Cantrill on grounds which require no proof—the mere statement of which carries confirmation with it. I do not care to take up other old charges which, whether true or false, would no doubt have slumbered forever had Mr. Cantrill not displeased those who dug them up. And I hope that in this campaign there will be no personal mud slinging and that Mr. Cantrill will be judged by his political attitude and affiliations."

"Nobody in the district can doubt that Claude Thomas has all the equipment to make a good and useful Congressman. He is a good lawyer, a man of affairs, a man of long legislative experience—a man who commands respect. There can be no thought that Mr. Cantrill would make a better Congressman. The issue is narrowed down to a question of whisky domination over the people of this State or clean politics. Are you for clean politics and the destruction of the political power of the saloons? If so, you can't stand with Cantrill without stultifying yourself. Are you for the kind of politics that framed up the snap primary, do you believe in the whisky power in politics, do you stand with the politicians, rather than with the people? If so, you have no business in the Thomas camp."

"The result of the coming primary will show where the people of the Seventh District stand. If Mr. Cantrill wins, it means either that this is a whisky district or that the temperance people have a yarn string for a backbone."

"If the people of Woodford, who stand against the whisky power, who stand for clean elections and straight politics, expect anybody to believe our professions, it is up to us to roll up a big majority for Thomas. The man who has convictions and will stand by them and with them, is a poor citizen if not a bad citizen and a mighty weak man, if not a bad man."

"A. A. B."

A LEAD PIPE CINCH.

VERSAILLES, KY., June 22.—The issue between Senator Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon County, and Congressman J. C. Cantrill, of Scott County, seems to be clearly defined by some of the most prominent Democrats of this county, as Cantrill is the candidate in favor of the whisky interests and Thomas of the temperance people. If left to Woodford it seems as though Thomas would have

BOURBON CIRCUIT COURT.

Besides hearing a few motions and disposing of some court affairs of minor importance, the only business transacted in Circuit Court Friday was the case of Hugh Ferguson, of the county against the Kentucky Traction and Terminal Company for $300 for the loss of four head of cattle killed by an interurban car near Paris a few months ago. The jury favored Mr. Ferguson.

Judge Stout, Saturday, heard appeals from a number of guards employed at the Frankfort penitentiary, praying for an injunction to prevent the State Prison Commissioners from discharging them for refusing to labor Sundays. The injunction was refused. Saturday was an uneventful day in the big court, nothing but motions being entertained, and no business of any importance being transacted.

In court yesterday the case of Dan Chinn, colored, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses was called and the trial entered into. The jury in the case gave Dan one year in the penitentiary.

TOBACCO POOLING LAW HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Kentucky statute making it legal for farmers to pool their tobacco was annulled as unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court at Washington yesterday.

The court held that the conviction of Patrick Collins, a farmer of Mason County, Kentucky, for selling his tobacco to an outsider after agreeing to pool with the Burley Tobacco Society, a tobacco growers organization, was invalid. Collins had been fined $150.

The conviction of Thomas Malone, another Kentucky tobacco grower, also was set aside.

In substance, the court found that as a result of the passage of the tobacco pooling act the Kentucky State court held that the trust law of the State was that any combination was legal that did not enhance or depress prices above or below real value.

The court that it was beyond human ingenuity to determine what was "real value" of an article under imaginary conditions.

STREET CONTRACTORS WAIT ARRIVAL OF MATERIAL.

The contractors who have in hand the work of resurfacing Main Street with the Warren patent Bitulith surface are ready to proceed with the work as soon as the material arrives. The machinery, tools, material, etc., were shipped from Boston four days ago, according to advices received by Mayor Hinton, and as soon as received here the work will proceed. In the meantime the traveling public will proceed to experience the "ups and downs" of life and merrily "bump the bumps" until the work is done.

a "lead pipe" to the Democratic nomination for Congress, as the sentiment of the people is overwhelmingly for the Webb-Kenyon law.

AGAINST CANTRILL.

"Everybody in Stanton is commanding the editor of the Clay City Times for his position in the race between J. C. Cantrill and Hon. Claude M. Thomas for Congress. A canvass was taken of the town last week and we find that nearly everybody is for Thomas. They all say that he is the cleanest man and will run strong in this county. They are against Cantrill because of his being a whisky man."—[Stanton Cor. Winchester Sun.]

THEY'RE ALL FOR THOMAS.

STANTON, KY., June 22.—The Democrats of Powell County are overwhelmingly for Hon. Claude M. Thomas. A straw vote was taken of the first twenty Democrats met on the streets of Stanton while Circuit Court was in session and every man but one was for Thomas.

Dr. J. E. Lemming said he was for Thomas because he is a clean man and not owned by the corporations and that he stands for the farmers of the district."

Mr. Ide Boone, County Court Clerk, said:

"Thomas is my man. He told me what he stood for when he was here a few weeks ago and they agreed with my views exactly. He is by far the best man."

Mr. Morgan Lyle, a leading merchant of Stanton, said Thomas would run strong in the county and that many of the people were "sore at Cantrill because of his stand on various questions."

EDITORS FOR BECKHAM

DAWSON SPRINGS, KY., June 22.—It reports that country editors from all over the State brought to annual summer meeting of the Kentucky Press Association are so, J. C. W. Beckham is as good as nominated for United States Senator in the Democratic primary on August 1. A poll of the editors and the representation was one of the largest that has attended a summer session in many years—showed that fully 80 per cent. of the members of the association are strong for Beckham. The remaining 20 per cent. is about evenly divided between Stanley and McCreary. Many of these, while not against Beckham, did not hesitate to express the opinion that Beckham has the race won and is gaining strength every day.

DAVIESS FOR BECKHAM.

OWENSBOO, KY., June 22.—Interest in the Senatorial race has greatly increased within the past few weeks and the sentiment for Governor Beckham has grown so rapidly that it is now practically certain he will carry Daviess County and Owensboro, the chief town in Stanley's own district.

OPENING GAME OF LEAGUE SEASON IN THIS CITY.

First Three Games Lost By Errors and Lack of Team Work.

TEAM TO BE STRENGTHENED.

Paris Taken Into Camp By Lexington—Same Teams Play To-day.

The opening game of the Paris Club as a member of the Ohio State League at White Park Saturday, was taken in hollow style by the Huntington team in the presence of a good sized crowd, by the score of 10 to 7.

This being the first game played here by professional teams since the disruption of the Blue Grass League, the Paris "rangs" expected a good exhibition of the national sport, but they were disappointed, as neither team came up to their expectations. The game was ragged and was replete with errors throughout.

Neither side scored until the fourth inning, when Huntington put two across the plate and Paris scored once in their half of the inning.

Francisco, the Paris catcher, who is considered the star catcher of the league, was spiked during the play, and retired in favor of Munson, who filled the position creditably.

The summary follows:

Huntington . . . 0 0 0 2 4 1 1 0 x—10

Paris 0 0 0 1 0 5 0 1 0—7

Stolen bases—Thoma, Moore, Daubert. Sacrifice hits—Calvert, 2; Shaffer. Two-base hit—Hobbs. Three-base hit—Hart. Home run—Kelly. Double plays—Hobbs to Daubert to Schrimper; Taylor to Kelly. Bases on balls—Off Hart, 4; off O'Neill, 2. Struck out—By Hart, 4; by O'Neill, 2. Burden, 3. Time of game—Two hours and twenty-five minutes. Umpire—Arundel.

Charles Sturr, president of the Paris Club of the Ohio State League, Thursday night signed Red Munson to manage the team. Munson succeeds Charley Applegate, who has been made business director of the Paris aggregation.

Red is a Cincinnati boy, and, with his experience and hustling, will surely turn out a winner for the Paris fans. The team will be strengthened. Munson is in communication with several star players of Appalachian League.

The Appalachian League blew up Wednesday. In that league Munson won two pennants before he came to the Ohio State.

Munson played his first game with the team Saturday, filling first base in a highly creditable manner.

SUNDAY'S GAME.

The second game of the Paris-Huntington series played Sunday was characterized by heavy slugging by the Huntington huskies, and general lack of team work on the part of the Paris team. The features of the game were the batting of Kelly and Calvert, a sensational running catch in center field by Cefalu, the fast work of Daubert and the slugfest started by Huntington, which resulted in four or five home runs. The game was witnessed by a large crowd.

The summary follows:

Huntington . . . 2 0 1 0 0 7 0 3 0—13

Paris 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 1 0—3

Stolen bases—Taylor, 2; Calvert, Thoma, Redman. Sacrifice hit—Calvert. Two-base hits—Kelley, Thoma, Seigle, Garnett. Three-base hit—Cefalu. Home runs—Schlegel, Calvert, 2; Kelley. Double plays—Daubert to Garnett. Bases on balls—Off Sanford 1; off Long, 1; off Cefalu, 1; off Mohart, 2. Struck out—By Sanford, 2; by Long, 2; by Mohart, 2. Passed ball—Redmon. Wild pitch—Long. Time of game—2 hours. Umpire—Arundel.

YESTERDAY'S GAME.

Paris lost yesterday's game in the seventh inning when, after scoring two in the first, two in the second, four in the third and one in the seventh, the team went up in the air and Lexington taking advantage of errors by the locals, sent seven men across the plate. The team lacks team work but it is hoped they will get together and play good ball. Hart and Long, of the pitching staff, were given their releases. The summary:

Lexington . . . 0 0 1 0 0 7 0 1 1—10

Paris 2 2 4 0 0 1 0 0 0—9

Hits—Paris 14; Lexington 13. Errors—Paris 1; Lexington 4. Stolen bases—Cain, Goodman. Two-base hits—Alten, Munson; 3-base hits—Hobs, Daubert. Double plays—Hobs to Munson; Garrett to Hobs. Bases on balls—Alton 4; Hanna; Black 1; Hartwig 3. Home run—Guy 1. Struck out—by Alten 3; Hanna 4; Hartwig 11. Time of game 2:30.

Batteries—Paris, Alten, Hanna and Munson; Lexington, Black, Hartwig and Dawson. Umpire—Arundel.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, the heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart-tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is

HOW CHILDREN GROW,

Children grow by nourishment—not overladen stomachs or rich foods but qualities that are readily converted into life-sustaining blood; too often their digestive powers cannot procure these qualities from ordinary foods which results in weakness, dullness and sickness.

If your children are under-size, under-weight, catch cold easily, are languid, backward, pale or frail, give them Scott's Emulsion which is pure medicinal nourishment. It sharpens the appetite, builds healthy flesh, firm muscles and active brains. Scott's is growing-food for children. Refuse alcoholic substitutes.

PROF. J. A. SHARON RESIGNS
AS HEAD OF NEWPORT SCHOOLS

Prof. J. A. Sharon, formerly Superintendent of the Paris City Schools, tendered his resignation Wednesday as Superintendent of the Newport Public Schools, following the announcement by the Newport school commissioners that they had passed a resolution reducing his salary.

In speaking of his resignation Prof. Sharon said: "Under the present condition of the public schools of Newport, due to retrenchment in money matters, the superintendent will meet many obstacles. The question of a cut in salary, together with added burdens and responsibilities, made my action absolutely necessary. The position of second-class cities during the last three years has become much harder to fill from every standpoint. The additional responsibilities added to regular labors makes it out of the question for me to remain at a reduced salary."

Prof. Sharon held the position of instructor of mathematics at the Kentucky State University before going to Newport. He made an excellent record as head of the public schools bringing them up to a high standard of efficiency.

There was not the slightest disagreement between members of the board and Prof. Sharon, as the latter's work was entirely satisfactory. In the line of retrenchment the Superintendent's salary was reduced $250. He had been receiving $2,500.

WOMEN RIDING ASTRIKE NOT SO POPULAR NOW.

That riding astride by women is not popular in New York was fully demonstrated at the recent Garden show. Up to this time no opportunity had been given for testing the matter, as the donors of all special prizes stipulated that side saddles must be used. In arranging the program for this year, however, silver cups were offered for horses carrying 160 pounds "to be ridden by ladies on side-saddles or astride." There were twelve entries in this class and when they came into the ring all the riders but one were mounted on side-saddles. In several other classes young girls not over 14 years old appeared on cross saddles, but the number thus riding this year was no greater than it has ever been.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PUTS BAN ON SEX NOVELTIES.

Delegates to the biennial meeting of Women's Clubs, at Chicago, led by Miss Lutie B. Stearns, of Madison, Wis., have started a movement to put the "sex novel" out of literary commission. Miss Stearns is a member of the Wisconsin State Library Board and acted as chairman of a conference at Chicago on literary extension.

It is proposed, as one blow to books dealing frankly with plots involving sex problems, to boycott them at all branches, and as another that members of women's clubs pledge themselves not to buy, read or permit their sons or daughters to read such books.

"A wise librarian," said Miss Stearns, "never puts a book on his shelves unless it answers affirmatively on these questions—will it inform, will it inspire, will it refresh?

"The provenance of the novel is to refresh and sometimes to inspire. The greatest problem which librarians have to meet is the enormous output of books. With some publishers it has struck 'Six o'clock,' and librarians have a hard time, knowing the titles and authors only, to discriminate concerning that sort of thing."

8,000-FOOT TUNNEL LAPS
RICH COAL REGION.

Sandy Ridge, the last great barrier on the Clinchfield, Carolina & Ohio Railroad between Elkhorn and Danta, Va.—through the "Brakes"—has just been pierced by a tunnel more than 8,000 feet long. Work was begun simultaneously on both sides two and a half years ago, and has been continuously pushed. Track laying on the extension will be resumed and completed within a few days, forming what is possibly the most important northwestern and southeastern connection of railroad lines in the country. The coal fields of Eastern Kentucky will be given a South Atlantic connection—which has long been wanted—by the completion of this extension. The great coal fields of Eastern Kentucky, especially the region of the Lower Elkhorn, will be opened up.

WELL, WELL, HERE'S
"OLD TERRAPIN" AGAIN.

"Mr. Vernon Hisle, who possesses a very unusual keenness of the eye, found a diamond-back terrapin near the sulphur well on the Ecton pike, on its breast bone was carved, in plain figures, 1897, and the initials E. G. It is the opinion that the initials are those of Mr. Ernest Gordon, who formerly resided in the West. The terrapin was about six inches in diameter, and no doubt has reached the limit of his growth. Seventeen years has passed since the date was carved on the crawler, and no telling how old it was when this was done, as it is claimed they live to be over a hundred years old."—[Winchester Democrat.]

FIRST POSTAGE STAMPS WERE MADE IN ENGLAND

The adhesive postage stamp had its origin in England seventy-four years ago as a direct outcome of the postal reform introduced by Sir Rowland Hill, whose master-mind created not only the estimable boon of penny postage stamp. At the time of the was carried into effect—the adhesive postage stamp. At the time of passing of the uniform penny postage act in 1839 all postage charges were paid in cash (usually on delivery) involving an enormous amount of book-keeping on the part of the post office, which would have been increased a hundred-fold when the reduced rates of postage came into force, but the suggestion of the great postal reformer for "a bit of paper, just large enough to bear the stamp, and coated on the back with a glutinous wash," being subsequently embodied in the famous one penny black postage label and its consort, the two-pence blue, which made their debut in May, 1840, and were the progenitors of all adhesive postage stamps.

For three short years Great Britain enjoyed a monopoly of the novel and handy method of collecting postages, until, in July, 1843, the enlightened Empire of Brazil followed suit with a series of unprepossessing adhesive labels of native manufacture, adorned with large numerals of value in place of a design. In 1847 the United States entered the field with two beautifully engraved portraits of Franklin and Washington, while the head of Ceres, the Goddess of Agriculture, found place on the first stamps of the French Republic, engraved by the elder Barre, which made their debut on January 1, 1849.—[The Strand Magazine.]

JUST IN TIME.

Some Paris People May Wait Till It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time.

Just in time with kidney ills.

Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders.

That so often come with kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose.

Here is testimony to prove their merit.

Mrs. B. F. Ball, 718 Lancaster St., Lexington, Ky., says: "One of our family was sick for three months from kidney trouble and a lame back. He had sharp pains in his back and was so lame and sore that he couldn't turn in bed without help. His limbs ached day and night and swelled badly. His head ached and he often got dizzy. He was irritable and had trouble from irregular passages of the kidney secretions. If the secretions stood for a little while, there was a dark sediment deposited. He doctored and tried all kinds of kidney remedies, but nothing helped him until he used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes drove away all the troubles."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ball recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Few New Year's resolutions are kept. We may be excused, therefore, for violating at this late date the resolution to say nothing during 1914 about our umbrella left standing in the National Bank of Cynthiana in the spring of 1896, and which has not been heard from since. A friend in Chicago has sent some clippings from Gertrude Stein's cubist volume, "Tender Buttons," one which applies so accurately to our case that we cannot refrain from reproducing it. The article is headed "A Mounted Umbrella," and is as follows: "What was the use of not leaving it there where it would hang what was the use if there was no chance of ever seeing it come there and show that it was handsome and right in the way it showed it. The lesson is to learn that it does show it, that it shows it and that nothing, that there is nothing, that there is no more to do about it and just so much more there is plenty of reason for making an exchange."—[Cynthiana Democrat.]

PARIS MAN OUTWITTED IN ELOPEMENT PLANS.

Sunday's Louisville Courier-Journal had the following concerning a frustrated elopement in which a Paris boy was one of the principals.

"Cupid was outwitted after being the victor in an automobile race from Bardstown to Louisville last night, when Miss Margaret Ray Fulton, youngest daughter of Judge John A. Fulton, of Nelson County, eluded two brothers and a cousin who sought to prevent her marriage to Edward Woods, of Paris, as skeleton keys of a house detective of the Hotel Henry Watterson, where the girl took refuge behind locked doors of a reception room, could not be overcome, and she was routed from her last stand, to be placed in one of the machines and hurried back to her father's house.

"Ignorant of the failure of the elopement plans and of the flight against big odds that Miss Fulton made, the prospective bridegroom reached Louisville a short time later, happy in the thought of his successful planning. He learned at the hotel of the capture of the girl and returned to his home disheartened.

"The recovery of Miss Fulton by the brothers was staged in the foyer of the hotel and created much excitement among the guests.

"Miss Fulton expressed a determination not to return to Bardstown, but within a short time she was observed entering her brothers' automobile. She was crying.

"At the home of Judge Fulton, at Bardstown, it was stated that the age of Miss Fulton was the strongest argument against her marriage. The family is prominent in Nelson County, where Judge Fulton is a prominent attorney. He served as County Judge, and at one time was a member of the State Board of Election Commissioners.

"In Bardstown it was learned that Mr. Woods had attended St. Joseph's College there and was a member of the 1914 graduating class."

"Wolves of the Underworld," 2 part (Broncho) feature. This is a well written story of the gangsters of the East Side and depicts the methods employed by them in their infamous work. This is the work of Thomas Ince, director, and William Clifford, author. The plot contains a pretty little story of gratitude on the part of an East Side Jew, who in the first part is a street peddler, but in the passing of time had become a wealthy merchant; able to assist the man who had befriended him in the day of adversity. It is a clean, worthy and meritorious picture, with humanity written all over it.

Another picture will be shown, entitled, "Victims of Speed." (adv)

PLAQUE OF INSECTS—
"A PLAGUE ON 'EM."

A plague of winged insects not much larger than gnats, made life almost unbearable Saturday night and Sunday night to pedestrians in this city. Millions of the pests swarmed all over the city. Every electric light had its swarm that gave the lights the appearance of being shrouded in a fog. The insects were here, there and everywhere, and the warm and tired workers who came out doors to get a little breath of air were driven back by the attacks of the little pests.

CINCINNATI VISITOR TO PARIS GAME HITS "WRONG RATTLER"

Among the out-of-town visitors to White Park Sunday to see the Paris-Richmond game was an especial friend of Manager Applegate, of the Paris team—"Snooks" Koop, one of the gate keepers at the Cincinnati ball park. After the game "Snooks" boarded what he thought was the Cincinnati bound train returning from Natural Bridge, put his ticket in his hat and promptly went to sleep. "All off for Richmond" was the next thing "Snooks" heard when he woke up. Upon investigation the gentleman found that he had butted into a colored excursion train and was in Richmond, Ky., many many more miles from Cincinnati than when he was in Paris. "Snooks" returned to Cincinnati safely yesterday and says when he comes here again as Applegate's guest to witness a game on Sunday he will take a guide, an alarm clock and a guardian with him when he starts for the L. & N. station.

SHROPSHIRE HAS GOOD STRING OF HORSES IN TRAINING.

Robert Shropshire, of Paris, Ky., brother of William Shropshire, of Hazel Dawn, Jack Straw, Jack Berrymore, etc., fame, has some good green horses which would not be ready to show this year and a two-year-old chestnut colt that he says is a "real bear."

On breeding and relationship, the youngster has every right to be just the kind of colt that Shropshire claims, as he is by Rex Peavine, out of Gladys Twigg by Chester Dare. The youngster is the joint property of Messrs. W. C. Massie and Shropshire and will not be gaited and shown this year, but will be handled with a view of showing in 1915 as a three-year-old.

WELL KNOWN CARPENTER DIES OF APOPPLEXY.

Mr. Thos. Estes, a well-known carpenter, died at his home on Houston Avenue, Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, from an apoplectic stroke. About a month ago, while at work on a building on the Bethlehem pike, he fell and broke his leg. He was taken to the Massie Hospital for treatment for his injuries, but after a week was removed to his home, where he gradually recovered and was able to get about with the assistance of crutches. He was feeling as well as usual Saturday and his sudden death was pronounced due to apoplexy.

Coroner Davis was called in and impaneled a jury which rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Mr. Estes' mother, Mrs. Malvina Estes, and his brother, Mr. James Estes, are both very ill at their home near Shawan.

Besides his mother and this brother, Mr. Estes is survived by his wife and two children, Miss Mabel Estes, 17 years old, and Finnell Estes, 15 years old. Also by four sisters, Mrs. Anna Fry, of Shawan; Mrs. Stevens, of Paris; Mrs. Sharon and Mrs. Siedner, both of Jackstown, this county, and by four other brothers, Messrs. John Estes, of Lexington; Charles Estes, of Huntington, W. Va.; Clay Estes, of Virginia, and Georges Estes, of Paris.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence, conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis, burial in the Paris cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Frank L. Walker, Harvey J. Jeffries, Frank P. Kiser, Moore Honaker, Arthur Burley and Dr. Wallingford.

LONG TUNIC TAKES COUNTRY BY STORM

Immaculate Freshness The Keynote to Being Well
Dressed in the Hot
Summer Time.

THE OXFORD SHOE AGAIN IN FASHION.

NEW YORK, June 16, 1914. The attractiveness of summer costumes lies largely in their immaculate freshness. Often a dress of cheaper material will be of greater satisfaction because of its well-laundered crispness than a more expensive frock. Lawn, swiss, linen and ratine are charming made up in a simple, stylish manner, and, if worn when fresh and crisp from the ironing-table, will give the wearer as dainty an appearance as milady in expensive silks and chiffons, who may wear a gown but once and lay it aside forever.

It is a foregone conclusion that women are dainty, and if daintiness is lacking so is feminine charm.

A Frock of Dainty Lawn with Skirt in Bustle Effect.

A simple design serves for my first illustration, and displays to the best advantage the flowered lawn of which it is made. The simple waist has the body and sleeves in one, with a large, rounding collar of the same lawn. A chemisette of white organdy, with flaring collar, completes the waist. The skirt is plain, except that it is caught up to simulate a bustle, gives a quaint and old-time effect to the dress. Behold! from inexpensive materials and simple embellishment we have a charming costume which is easily made and easily kept fresh.

The long tunic skirt has taken the country by storm. So sudden and unexpected has been its popularity that the shops have been unprepared for it. The manager of a well-known shop, where only ready-made suits and costumes are sold, said that if the furore had come any earlier than it did it would put them out of business.

The suit of my second illustration has the long tunic skirt, and simple jacket of cadet-blue ratine. It is made of the one material throughout, which makes it stand alone in the crowd of suits and dresses where combinations of colors and fabrics are the keynotes.

A variety of fabrics are being used for children's frocks. Among them is crepe, which makes charming little dresses that have an added attraction in that ironing is required to make them presentable. After they are washed, if they are wrung and pulled and smoothed into shape, they are ready to put on as soon as they are dry.

For play dresses and rompers, select the heavy, firm quality. It is called English or Japanese crepe, and comes in a number of alluring colors, such as Dutch blue, buff, odd pink and greens. These will be found serviceable and are usually made into little frocks which hang from the shoulders and are belted with a wide belt, or sash, of the same or contrasting color.

For every-day afternoon dresses plisse crepe may be used. This comes in quaint and old-time designs, especially cunning when made up with long waists and short, fluffy skirts. A two-inch strip of the material may be corded on either edge, and used for the connecting belt of skirt and waist.

Voile and net take first place for the little girl's best dress this summer. These are usually worn over slips of pink or blue wash silk. Even for the tiny girl net is used, slightly corded and braided, tucked and embroidered. In these little dresses the fashions which dominate Mamma's dresses soon find their way in a modified form into the fashions for the child. So Mother's tunics have become double skirts for the little daughter and the waistcoats have given a waistcoat effect to pointed vests in children's dresses.

For the small boy the Dutch and Oliver Twist suits are having a great vogue. Trouzers of blue, green or brown, and buttoned to waists of white, having collars and cuffs to match the trousers, are distinctly boyish and quite a change from the rompers, which have been the accepted every-day suit for the small boy so long. A Florence Dombey dress for the little girl corresponds to this boy's suit. The short, circular skirt is buttoned with large pearl buttons to a blouse of white. It is very cunning, but more becoming to the girl of eight than to her younger sister; while the boy's suits are more becoming to the real small boy.

The small boy's suit for wear on state occasions should be of white pique or linen. If he is small the collars and cuffs may be embroidered, but as he grows older the plainer and more tailored must the suit appear.

For the boys and girls alike the Balmacan coat is smartest for everyday wear and should be in every ward robe made of some rainproof material to take the place of the rubber coat in rainy weather. Capes for the girl are coming in upon the high wave just in the wake of mother's cape, and moret han likely the smartest winter coats will be those having a cape of the same material attached. Now is the time for a timely talk on feet. Gone is the old prejudice against large feet. Athletics helped to lessen it, and dancing has reached the people that athletics didn't touch. In order to dance the new dances gracefully the feet must be comfortable. Many have tried to launch the dancing slipper without heels, on the ballet variety, but except among a very few this has not been successful. But heels are lower and toes are broader throughout the whole shoe realm.

Colored uppers to shoes, or colored stockings with low shoes, are quite the expected mode. The low shoes also have colored uppers and backs in cafe au lait (the color of coffee and milk), or biscuit. These are mounted well down into the vamp and run to the sole at the sides, and make the feet look as small as possible.

A Suit in One Color, a Welcome Relief From the Many Popular Combination.

The oxford has come into fashion again, and rivals the English pump. In the country these are worn with leather thongs instead of the silk laces or ribbons. Plain silver buckles are correct for wear on the low shoes, while the latest thing in ribbons for low shoes is the varnished shoe ribbon.

The brocaded slipper in dull colors we have borrowed from the Parisienne, who wears them with white stockings, or with those matching the dress worn.

In children's shoes for summer the sturdy little strapped slipper holds first place for the little tot, and for the older child the oxford in black and brown.

PARCEL POST QUESTION

Argument Against Increasing Weight Limit Beyond Fifty Pounds.

[The Evansville, Ind., Courier, May 7, 1914.]

To the Editor of the Courier:

Your editorial in Saturday's issue, April 18, under the heading of "Parcel Post and Express Companies," has my attention.

The undertaking by the postoffice department of the general government to transport parcels without weight limit, or, if limited to fifty pounds, is a great economic problem not easy of solution.

The question is asked, "would it be a calamity to have a wasteful and expensive agency driven out of business by a more economical one?" "Would it be disastrous for business to have products moved more cheaply?" This disposes of the matter in a very summary way. But where the logic? The statement is an implication that post-office department can do this parcels post business more cheaply than the express companies. But no argument is adduced to prove it. That the government produces anything or performs any service for the public cheaper than individuals or private corporations is open to grave doubts.

The express companies are now under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission.

This is a department of the general government created by law to regulate transportation. Is it fair to the express companies for another department of the government to enter into the same kind of transportation business at a lesser rate than that approved by the interstate commerce commission for these companies?

To my mind this is a sane question. These companies have vested interests and the government should undertake to protect these interests, rather than to destroy them. If it be argued that these express companies have full right to enter into competition with the government's rate, it may easily be assumed that these companies will gladly undertake to do this, if the postoffice department shall make a rate that will cover all costs for service, including such interest on the cost of the vast equipment devoted to this service, as the Interstate Commerce Commission shall decide these companies are entitled to on their invested capital.

These companies have been taxed for these government owned postoffices and equipment used in this transportation service, and it does not seem fair to them that the power of the government through the postoffice department should be used for their overthrow.

Furthermore, the people—other than those who make use of this transportation service—have a right to a voice in this matter and to demand taxation to make up for losses incurred on this scheme of transportation.

Moreover the patrons of the service have no right to, nor are they demanding a rate that shall not be commensurate with the service rendered and that shall fully compensate the government.

When it is understood that the government does not operate the post-office department for profit, and assuming that the department can perform this service as cheaply as the express companies can, then it is clearly evident that the express companies cannot maintain themselves in this unequal contest; for they must have a profit if they are to remain in business.

The only hope open to the companies now is that their patrons will in consideration of better service than offered by the government and the indemnity feature of the service, be willing to pay such rate as the Interstate Commerce Commission shall decide they are entitled to.

I am informed by one of the local companies that scarcely more than twenty-five per cent. of incoming and outgoing freight weights over fifty pounds. Much of this weight of fifty pounds or less could be as well transported by the parcels post, and if an arbitrary price fixed by law, less than the express companies can afford to carry, then we may logically conclude that it will go that way; then if later on the weight limit is extended to one hundred pounds, there will be little left for the express companies to do; so little in fact that the business would not be remunerative.

If it is the settled policy of the government to extend the parcels post facilities, then it will need the same facilities that the express companies now have in service.

Why not then take over these facilities rather than to duplicate them and thus save the great loss that must necessarily follow if forced out of business.

It occurs to me that it would be just as unfair to these companies to force them out of business by the power of general government and at the expense of the people, as it would to the railroads to build parallel lines throughout the country by taxing the people, and then by law make rates that would put the railroads out of business.

Means for the speedy and cheap transportation of small parcels to every part of the country is a public necessity. Where such means do not now exist or are insufficient the government may properly supply them. But where the government can give neither better nor cheaper service than the agencies now provide, ruinous competition is unjustifiable.

By cheaper service is meant service at no more cost to the people, and this to my mind is the essence of the whole proposition.

That the parcels post service is a great convenience to people throughout the country served by the rural mail carriers cannot be doubted. But without special equipment only small parcels of small value can be cheaply handled and the service should be confined to this.

Since the government assumes no liability for loss or damage and has no accounting to make on these small, inexpensive parcels, an economic saving is possible. But when larger and more expensive articles are admitted to the mails, there is need for proper accounting, and more elaborate equipment, and then it is doubtful if the government can perform the service at a lesser cost than the existing services.

There is another feature of this parcels post service that may well have the thoughtful consideration of all of our people; for it threatens a partial if not complete revolution of existing commercial relations.

The year 1913 saw an extension of the mail order business of the country of not less than twenty million dollars. Probably much more. And the parcels post contributed largely to this enormous business. As these mail order houses are located in the largest cities of the country, it transfers this immense traffic from more than two thousand country stores doing business in excess of ten thousand dollars. Furthermore it diverts the same business from the ordinary channels of distribution through the jobber, to these same retail stores now located in every jobbing center throughout the country.

If the government is fully compensated for the cost of this service and in addition a margin of profit sufficient to suitably reward private capital engaged in a like carrying business, and it is then found to be an economic factor in distribution, it would seem that the revolution or evolution should go on.

If, however, the government performs this service as a whole or even in part, at the expense of the people, then what? Is anybody saved if by the extension of this service the present channels of distribution are disrupted and jobbers and retailers alike are driven out of business as are the express companies being driven out now?

This is an economic question of such import, that it should demand the serious consideration of every student of economics in the country. And for the present I believe the Postmaster General should wait any further extension of the weight limit, until he can be sure that the department can demonstrate its ability to properly and economically care for the business that will come to it under his recent orders.

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS" HAD THEIR DRAWBACKS.

Those who are fond of raving over the happy days of yore and criticizing acrimoniously the present perturbed times for their surplus of ill-judged legislation may derive some consolation from a perusal of the old blue laws of New Haven, which are printed below.

No one shall cross a river on the Sabbath day but authorized clergymen.

That the ancient lawmakers were grossly misguided needs no further proof than the fact that they considered the drum, the trumpet and the jew's-harp "instruments of music."

His sister, Miss Alphra Ball, with a cousin, Mrs. Rebecca Freeman, had visited him at his home in St. Louis, and had left him on the morning of the wedding day. Mr. Ball is a young man with brilliant prospects, and most excellent habits, and his bride is said to be an accomplished and attractive young lady.

—Mrs. Belle Vimont Armstrong, aged about 60, died early Saturday morning at St. Vincents Hospital, Indianapolis, as the result of a second operation. Mrs. Armstrong has been in failing health for several months. Early in April she underwent a serious operation from which she received no good results. About a week ago it was decided by her physicians that another operation was necessary. This was performed, and conditions were found to be more serious than in the first operation. She did not rally from the shock of the second, and continued to grow worse until the end came. Mrs. Armstrong was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vimont, of this place, and the greater part of her life has been spent here. She was one of nine children, and is survived by two brothers—T. A. Vimont, of Paris, and Banks Vimont, of Lexington; four sisters, Mesdames Claude Vimont and J. H. Grimes, which was presided over by Mesdames R. L. Wilson and T. D. Judy, where ice cream frozen in cala lillies and roses were served and cakes with the letter "H" on them. The color scheme for the occasion was pink and white and was nicely carried out in everything. The dining room was darkened and softly illuminated with wax tapers, pink and white carnations being used. As the guests passed from the dining room the favors, which were carnations, were pinned on them by Misses Alma Hurst and Verona McKenney, the latter of Mississippi. Soft sweet music on the victrola, which was stationed in the upper hall, and operated by Mr. Richard Huffman, was dispensed during the entire time. This was an occasion that was enjoyed by all present and will long be remembered.

In the evening Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Huffman entertained about 18 of the young people in honor of their son, Richard Huffman, and cousin, Miss McKenney, the latter of Missouri. Rook was indulged in during the greater part of the evening. Ices and cakes were served.

ladies, and was loved by all who knew her. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and a devoted mother. Some years ago Miss Mary Armstrong secured a position as instructor in music at Hamilton College, Lexington, her mother going with her at the time. Mrs. Armstrong and daughter have passed since then considerable time at Lexington. Where the daughter secured a position the mother was always with her. The devotion between mother and daughter was indeed remarkable, and has been commented upon by friends. About two years ago Miss Armstrong secured a position in Indianapolis, Ind., where they have since resided. The remains, accompanied by Miss Armstrong, and other relatives, arrived here Sunday at noon, and were taken to the vault, where they were laid until 10:30 a.m. Monday. After a short funeral service at the grave by Rev. J. D. Redd and Dr. C. C. Fisher, they were laid to rest in the Millersburg cemetery.

—One of the prettiest, as well as the most elaborate, receptions of the season was that given by Mrs. W. V. Huffman, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6, at her home on Main street. One hundred and seventy-five invitations had been issued and 154 responded to. The afternoon was beautiful and comfortable. The guests were received at the front door by Mrs. O. E. Hurst, and deposited their cards with little Miss Lillian Day, of Paris, niece of the hostess, who was in charge of the silver card tray. They were then conducted into the presence of the receiving line, which occupied a position in the drawing room, by Mrs. J. D. Booth. The line was made up of Mrs. W. V. Huffman, hostess, Mrs. J. B. Day, of Paris, sister of the hostess, Mesdames K. R. and A. M. Vaught, of Indianapolis, Ind. The entertainers in the parlor were Mrs. M. C. Grimes and Mrs. S. C. Bascom. From thence they were conducted to the library, where they were met by Mesdames John Marr, Anna Jefferson, G. W. Judy and J. T. Judy. In here frappe was served and was presided over by Miss Alma Hurst of Lexington, assisted by Misses Elizabeth Ingles, Alice Ingles and Aleta Wilson. They were then ushered from the drawing room to the dining room by Mesdames Claude Vimont and J. H. Grimes, which was presided over by Mesdames R. L. Wilson and T. D. Judy, where ice cream frozen in cala lillies and roses were served and cakes with the letter "H" on them. The color scheme for the occasion was pink and white and was nicely carried out in everything. The dining room was darkened and softly illuminated with wax tapers, pink and white carnations being used. strict by a large majority. His supporters claim that he will get more votes in the county than Stanley and McCreary combined, and that similar conditions exist in McLean, the adjoining county.

One feature of the Beckham movement has been the large number of young men who have declared themselves in his behalf, and it is expected that a great number of them will become members of the club to be formed.

Not in years has there been in Owensboro and Daviess County such a general expression in favor of any candidate for the Democratic nomination for public office.

The Stanley men realize that they are hopelessly beaten in Daviess and even the Henderson man's strongest supporters are unable to muster the courage to predict a victory for him in Daviess County, while the strength of McCreary amounts to nothing.

CROWD AT GREENSBURG.

Gov. Beckham spoke to a court-house full to overflowing at Greensburg, last Thursday. Mr. Beckham was met at the train, and escorted to the court house, while the Greensburg brass band furnished music. Ex-State Senator S. T. Gorin presided at the meeting, and Attorney R. L. Durham introduced the speaker. Gov. Beckham's speech was along the line of his former speeches over the State, and to the satisfaction of his hearers, he refuted the charges made against him by Mr. Stanley in his speech.

Mr. Beckham reviewed the legislation passed while he occupied the Governor's chair, and recited the many reform measures and the development of the State's finances during his administration. Gov. Beckham has always been strong in county, and his friends claim for him a more united support than he has ever had in Green.

It is conservatively estimated that he will get three-fourths of the vote cast.

A WINNING FIGHT.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 22.—Contemplating with a mournful air the irresistible Beckham wave that is sweeping Louisville, a lone Louisville supporter of Gov. McCreary opines that Mr. Beckham must be losing ground in the country districts because his friends are making such efforts in his behalf in Louisville.

There is nothing in this. Mr. Beckham is stronger in the country districts than was the case two weeks ago—stronger, if for no other reason, because of the collapse of the opposition.

A well informed looker-on in Kentucky politics stated that Mr. Beckham will carry 110 out of the 120 counties in the State. This may be disputed, but there is no reason to doubt that Mr. Beckham will carry three counties out of four and probably ten out of eleven Congressional districts.

OPENING GAME OF LEAGUE SEASON IN THIS CITY.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The team got off to a bad start in letting Huntington trim them twice in slugging matches, but it is hoped that they will revenge themselves on Lexington and brace up while on their six-days' road trip. "Red" Munson, the new manager, has begun cleaning out some of the old material. Red Hart and Chic Long, pitchers, were released, as it is believed they were not putting forth their best efforts.

Munson has his lines out for two college stars. Applegate expects to get back in the lineup within a few days. The Paris team has some fine material in Daubert, shortstop, Hobbs, second base, Shafer, outfielder, Francisco, catcher, Alten, Hannah and Utrecht, pitchers, and Manager Munson assures the Paris fans that he will fill in the other positions and show Bourbon county some real baseball.
